

Littleton Independent

Gallery opens door to `Art Unhinged`

Peggy Dietz

“The 6th Food Group” by S. Williams was awarded First Place in the “Art Unhinged” exhibit at the Depot Art Gallery. The juror was Denver artist Jackie McFarland.

Column by Sonya Ellingboe

Posted 7/2/14

In addition to technical skills, and imagination, a sense of humor comes into play with artwork displayed at the Depot Art Gallery's latest show: “Art Unhinged.” Littleton Fine Arts Guild members were asked to present rare techniques and subjects. Denver artist Jackie McFarland was juror and awarded first place to S. Williams for a painting called “The 6th Food Group.” (Chocolate, you may have guessed.)

Other winners: Julia Grundmeier, Nancy Meyer, Renee Chastant, Judith Berlinger and Joe Bonita. The Depot Art Gallery is at 2069 W. Powers Ave. in downtown Littleton. Hours: 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays. “Art Unhinged” hangs until July 27. 303-795-0781, depotartgallery.org.