

Oil Painting Class at the Depot – Mondays 1 pm – 4 pm

$30 per session (or $100 for 4 sessions*)

Instructor: Jennifer Riefenberg, Nat'l Award Winning Artist

The classes will consist of on-going sessions with a new topic each week – similar to the Art Students League format. All levels welcome – we will be working on concepts that pertain to all levels of painting. Each student will have individualized instruction and feedback to help their own needs and at their level.

Sign up today. Drop ins are also welcome, space permitting.

Student Supplies required:

Drop cloth

Easel and palette

Brushes: recommend at minimum 1" filbert (#10 or #12), ½" filbert (#6 or #8).

Canvas or board: recommend 8 x 10" to start – bring a couple for each class

Oil paints: In general, a white, a blue, a red, and a yellow. Titanium white, ultramarine blue (and/or cobalt- and/or phthalo blue), cadmium red (and/or alizarin crimson), cadmium yellow medium (and/or yellow ochre, lemon yellow), and burnt sienna (optional). Other colors are welcome, but as we discuss color – theory and mixing, a primary triad is necessary.

Odorless mineral spirits only (recommend Gamsol) in a portable and sealed container. Water mixable oils are also welcome, of course.

Rags or paper towels for cleanup.

Your own photos for reference – or, there will usually be a still life available
