

Littleton Independent

‘Colors of the West’ opens at the Depot

“Grant Ranch,” an oil painting by Betty Carr of Littleton, won Best in Show in Depot Art Center’s “Colors of the West” exhibit. Courtesy photo.

Posted 6/11/10

“Colors of the West” is the current exhibit at the Depot Art Center and Gallery, 2069 W. Powers Ave., downtown Littleton. It will continue through July 24, to be followed by the annual Western Welcome Week show. Deanne Macdonald was show chairman. Betty Carr’s oil painting, “Grant Farm,” was awarded Best in Show by juror Pat Fostvedt. Juror’s Choice went to Peggy Dietz’ photo “Mission Courtyard.” Don Stone won First Place for his oil painting, “Mt. Davis;” Karla Horst was awarded Second Place for her watercolor, “Amaranth;” “The Pocket Watch,” a photo by Judy Diest won Third Place. Honorable Mentions were given to Marge McMonagle, Jeran Philbrick and Ellen Gerstung. Depot hours: 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesdays through Saturdays. 303-795-0781. Admission is free.